The AOGCC is the repository for all logs and geologic data collected during drilling and after completion of a well. This dataset includes but is not limited to: LAS and image files for all open hole and mud logs run, directional survey data, geologic markers, dipmeter data, core photographs and analysis, drill stem tests, production tests, palynological and paleontological reports, and fluid analysis. A free copy of the 5 TB public digital log archive is available by contacting aogcc.customer.svc@alaska.gov. Log and directional survey data for individual wells are available by request.

- Complete well history file scans, including permits to drill, sundry applications and reports, and well completion reports, filed by Permit to Drill Number:
